Bring Me Some Apples and I'll Make you a Pie

In the children's book, Bring Me Some Apples and I'll Make you a Pie, by Robbin Gourley, the characters focus on farm-to-table all year round.

As part of the Longwood Gardens Community Read Program, the Delaware Museum of Nature & Science comes to you to explore how the seasons are unique and their effect on the growth of local crops. Learn why we don't only get flowers after May showers, but all year long!

This program is great for organizations such as libraries, daycares, after school groups, and classrooms.
